This is the basic principle of double-entry bookkeeping. There must always be a balance between the assets and liabilities: each transaction needs to be debited in one account and credited in the other. At the end of the day, it's important that the total balance sheet has the same value on both sides.

Using Balance Sheets in Accounting By Stephen L. Nelson The balance sheet is the second-most-important financial statement that an accounting system produces, after an income statement. A balance sheet reports on a business's assets, liabilities, and owner contributions of capital at a particular point in time.
