During the past few years two principally different approaches to the design of fuzzy controllers have emerged: heuristics-
based design and
model-based design.
The main motivation

Download Free

Dr Sc Ahmet

for the heuristics-based design is given by the fact that many industrial processes are still controlled in one of the following two ways: - The process is controlled manually by an experienced operator. - The process is controlled by an automatic control system which needs

'trimming' of its
parameters by an experienced operator.

In both cases it is enough to translate in terms of a set of fuzzy if-then rules the
operator's manual
control algorithm or
manual on-line
'trimming' strategy in order to obtain an equally good, or even better, wholly automatic fuzzy control system. This implies that the design of a fuzzy

controller can only be done after a manual
control algorithm or
trimming strategy exists. It is admitted in the literature on fuzzy control that the heuristics-based approach to the

design of fuzzy controllers is very difficult to apply to multiple-input/multiple-output control problems which represent the largest part of challenging industrial process control applications. Furthermore, the heuristics-based design lacks systematic and

formally verifiable

tuning techniques.

Also, studies of the

stability, performance, and robustness of a

closed loop system

incorporating a

heuristics-based fuzzy

done via extensive

simulations.
