Real Influence: Persuade Without Pushing and Gain Without Giving In. People won't put up with being "sold" anymore. If they sense they are being pushed, their guard goes up - and even if they do comply, lingering resentment undermines the relationship ...maybe forever. Yet, most books on influence still portray it as something you "do to" someone else to get your way.

In this post-pushing, post-selling world, influence can no longer be viewed as something you do to someone to get what you want. In fact, real influence isn't even about what you want. It's about forging strong connections by focusing on other people's viewpoints, and, quite simply, giving before asking for anything, and always striving for win-win outcomes.
