You will need enough cloth to hang over your shoulder to at least mid shin/calf - also remember that the cloth will shrink on washing - so you may want to add 5-10% for shrinkage. If you want wider side panels or extra panels in the front then you may want to get a bit more. An example of this is for a man 5'10" (180cm) weighing 14st (90kg) you will need: A piece of cloth about 7½/2.25m long - the chest measurement is about 44"/110cm round.

Make sure you have the correct equipment - a tape measure will be useful - a lot of Regia members use long straight edges and decorator's tape measures for working with. A long straight edge is useful. If you are going to fold and cut multiple pieces of cloth at the same time then pin them together.
